

Success for the Whole Family

Telos began taking family assessment data in 2012. This was obtained using the Family Assessment Device III which measures the health and happiness of a family system. The assessment has a max score of 4 and a minimum score of 1. The lower the score, the more functional a family is. Families at 2 and below are considered in the functional range. The data in this table represents 1,361 assessments.

The data suggests families come to Telos experiencing dysfunctional patterns, then learn and apply strategies that restore lasting health and happiness for the entire family.
