

Success for the whole family

Telos began taking family assessment data in 2015. This was obtained using the Family Assessment Device III which measures the health and happiness of a family system. The assessment has a max score of 4 and a minimum score of 1. The lower the score, the more functional a family is. Families at 2 and below are considered in the functional range.

The data suggests families come to Telos U experiencing dysfunctional patterns, then learn and apply strategies that improve lasting health and happiness for the entire family.
